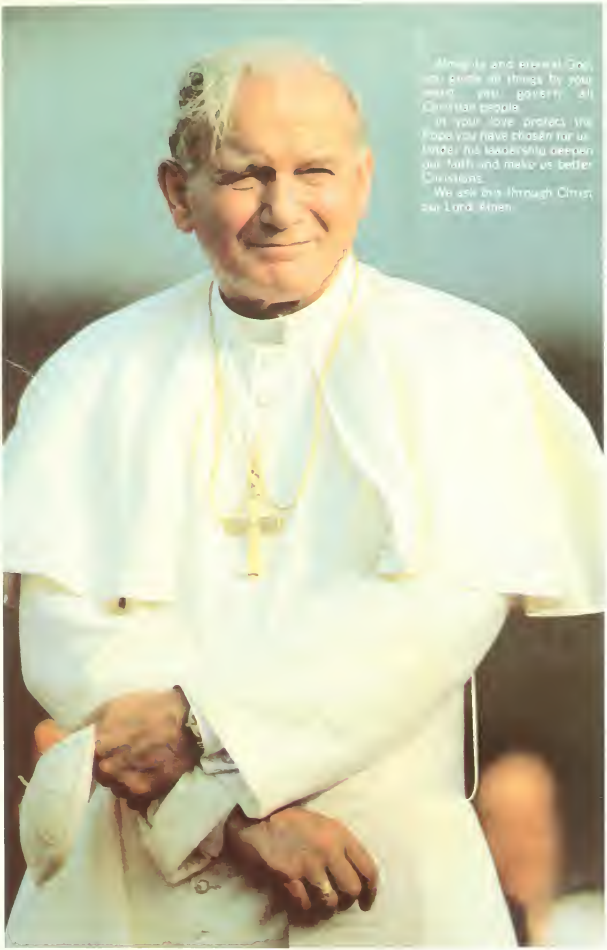
TOWER



DEDICATION

To His Holiness, Pope John Paul II who visited Canada in September 1984, we the Community at St. Michael's College School, dedicate this 1984-1985 issue of the TOWER.

GREETINGS FROM THE PRINCIPAL

In this memorable year of the visit of our beloved Pope John Paul II to our land, I can think of no better way to greet you than through his words. In speeches in Montreal, St. Johns and Vancouver, the Holy Father has left us two extraordinarily vivid portraits - one of Catholic youth, the other of the Catholic teacher. Where better to record for our on-going reflection the Holy Father's thoughts on the young and their teachers than in the 1985 TOWER?

My dear young people . . .

. . . it is you who determine the shape of the future.

In solidarity with your brothers and sisters of different nations and races and cultures, it is possible for you to change the world . . . a world in which persons are more important than profits, in which the world's resources are justly shared, and in which peaceful negotiations replace threats of war.

. . . Be creative! Do not be conspicuous by your absence when the future of the world is being shaped.

. . . you ask yourselves what value you put on the possession of riches. Are you free in regard to money? How far are you prepared to share? Your brothers and sisters in the vast region of the world are without even the necessities of life. . . .

You long for peace from the depths of your heart. I want your concern for world peace to make of you workers for peace. BEGIN WITH WHERE YOU ARE.

Have the courage to resist the dealers in deception who make capital of your hunger for happiness and who make you pay dearly for a moment of "artificial paradise" - a whiff of smoke, a bout of drinking or drugs.

When, as man and woman, you bind yourselves together (in marriage) decide to do so with complete generosity, each desiring first the well being of the other, together desiring to communicate life and to ensure the welfare of your children. And for this, too, may the words of Christ give you light: "A man can have no greater love than to lay down his life for his friends." (Jn. 15:13)

. . . if there should arise in you the desire to consecrate your life to the service of God and your brothers and sisters in the ministry of the Church, in the religious life, know how to recognize in it the call of Christ and respond with the boundless generosity of youth.

. . . Jesus keeps telling us that we must never despair, that love triumphs over every obstacle, over every failure, over suffering and hatred, even over death itself. This love, dear young people, and the peace that it brings, will anchor you firmly amid the chaos of the world.

Never allow anyone among your acquaintances to be deprived of his or her rights, or put down by others because he or she is not of your social milieu, or your colour, or does not speak your language or share your faith. Refuse to build barriers between yourselves and older people.

. . . Do not let anyone deceive you about the real meaning of your life. It comes from God. You are on earth because God made you. You come from him. You belong to him. And you will go to him. God is the source of your life.

Christ needs you with pure hearts and generous love to help him in his mission of uplifting humanity and bringing his salvation to the world. This is Christ's mission and he shares it with you!

My dear teachers,

To you it is given to create the future and give it direction by offering to your students a set of values with which to assess their newly discovered knowledge.

(provide) a kind of education whose curriculum will be inspired more by reflection than by technique, more by the search for wisdom than the accumulation of information.

. . . you are called to lead the young to Christ, to inspire them to follow him, to show them his boundless love and concern for them, through the example of your own life.

Through you, as through a clear window on a sunny day, students must come to see and know the richness and the joy of life lived in accordance with his teaching, in response to his challenging demands.

To teach means not only to impart what we know, but also to reveal who we are by living what we believe. It is this latter lesson that tends to last the longest.

En masse, the students of the world are today repeating to their Catholic teachers these words recorded in the Gospel . . . "We wish to see Jesus." (Jn. 12:21). This is indeed the vital task of the Catholic teacher: to show Jesus to the young.

By offering your students the truth of Christ you are . . . helping them to experience his freedom. You are thus engaged in the authentic liberation of this generation of students to whom Jesus repeats the Gospel promise: "If the Son makes you free, you are free indeed." (Jn. 8:36) You are called to serve and spread Christ's liberating truth.

If the teaching of the Gospel is visible in your daily lives, it will have visible influence upon the young whom you teach.

PRESS RELEASE

December 7, 1984

METRO SEPARATE SCHOOL BOARD & ST. MICHAEL'S COLLEGE SCHOOL

The Congregation of St. Basil (Basilian Fathers) has indicated its intention to operate St. Michael's College School as a fully independent secondary school, it was announced today.

The announcement follows a series of meetings between the Board and its private school partners to determine the future administration of the schools as a result of the government policy announced by Premier William Davis on June 12th to fully fund Catholic schools.

All the private Catholic secondary school authorities have agreed, in principle, to become part of the public Catholic secondary system under the jurisdiction of the Metropolitan Separate School Board.

The Congregation of St. Basil (Basilian Fathers), which operates two high schools, Michael Power and St. Michael's College School, has indicated its intention to allow Michael Power to become part of the public Catholic secondary system while St. Michael's College School will remain an independent school.

St. Michael's College School, established in 1852, has a long tradition as an independent Catholic secondary school serving young men seeking a liberal arts education. In 1967, the Congregation of St. Basil entered into a partnership with the Metropolitan Separate School Board whereby St. Michael's College School would operate a private secondary school for students in grades 11, 12, and 13 while students and programs in grades 9 and 10 would be under the jurisdiction of the Board.

The Basilians stress that there is a need for an alternative approach to Catholic education, especially in a city the size of Toronto, and that retaining the tradition of a low cost, non-exclusive independent Catholic high school would serve that need.

The Board, agrees with the need for a healthy expression of pluralism in Catholic education and adds that each type of school, public Catholic and independent Catholic, will be mutually beneficial. Each would consolidate the excellence of the other.

The full details of the change have not been finalized. It is clear, however, that the Board, will accept responsibility for the placement of the MSSB teachers and grade 9 and 10 students of St. Michael's College School who wish to remain in a Catholic secondary school under the jurisdiction of the MSSB.

The Board currently offers programs in 27 secondary schools.
